BILIOUSNESS.
"I unhesitatingly add my testimony to the great benefits to be derived from Simmons Liver Regulator. I was afflicted for several years with disordered liver, which resulted in a severe attack of Jaundice. I had good medical attendance, but it failed to restore me to the enjoyment of my former health. I then tried the most renowned physicians of Louisville, Ky., but all to no purpose, whereupon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health." A. H. Shirley, Richmond, Ky.... "I most cheerfully recommend it to all who suffer from bilious attacks or any disease caused by a disarranged state of the liver."....

'COAL-OIL JOHNNY'S' HOME.

ROUSEVILLE, THE ONCE FAMOUS OIL CENTRE, A DESERTED WILDERNESS.

Rouseville, Pa., May 9.—This town was the home of "Coal Oil Johnny," whose exploits in the wasting of riches have been known and read of all men. Coal Oil Johnny, nor any other of the great throng which early in the sixties lived amid the feverish excitement of the oil regions, would know the place to-day. Johnny stopped the other day in Oil City, which under the smiles of the Standard Oil Company, has grown to be the head and centre of Oildom, but he did not revisit the scene of his boyhood nor hunt out any of the old faces which used to stand aghast at the stories of his mad excesses.

His was not the only fabulous fortune found hereabouts, nor the only one that vanished as quickly and easily as it had come, and while old, worn-out wells which have pumped up millions of liquid gold go on in their wheezy, rheumatic fashion, making a barrel or two of petroleum a day, idlers in this noiseless land wish they had some of the old stockings full of dollars which, beyond a doubt, are hidden away in the odd corners of this Valley of Disuse. Banks were not in good order with denizens of the oil regions in the days of the furor. They kept the ducats about them, and many a record of daring robbery lives here to prove it.

Where oil creek wears its way noiselessly between lines of grizzly mountain a quarter of a century ago the pulse of the oil excitement throbbed most madly. And it was here to Rouseville that men hurried to feel the mighty artery's wild pulsation. The few inhabitants will open their eyes and wake up now, to tell a stranger of days when nigh onto ten thousand people got their mail at the Rouseville Post-Office; when as far as you could see the air was pierced by towering derricks; when houses rented for big money, and a room hired for a year cost a comfortable year's salary; when every incoming train was crowded with passengers until some even were forced to ride upon the roofs of the cars. Rude temporary houses were built by rearing fences to a height of four or five feet and covering them with oiled cloth. You paid two or three dollars for a bed and as much for a meal. The town couldn't begin to cook victuals enough, and the feeding lasted straight through the day and night. As fast as one man rose from the rough table and rough fare, and went away to prosecute his wild labor, another took his place. It was the same way with beds, which were never vacant more than five minutes. And where the carrion was the vultures gathered too; adventurers of every stamp thronged into Rouseville till the town couldn't hold them.

The most exciting occupation the place offers to-day is to sit in the sunshine on the well-carved bench at the side of the station and look at and add to the long line of tobacco brands which hours of industious chewing and expectoration has left upon the rickety sidewalk. The Justice of the Peace, a bearded gentleman in straw hat, blue checked shirt and homespun, high-water trousers, stands coatless and vestless on the bridge, which is so near baptism in the creek that no erring being would dare drive over it faster than a walk. Where houses—little, hasty, unpainted houses—used to cluster thick as autumnal leaves, to-day only crumbled foundation walls are left, with now and then a humble dwelling looking up in surprise at you and calling attention to itself by varying the dismal monotony of boulders all the way up the slope. In door-yards are oil wells still sleepily pumping, and as the housewife in this deserted village goes about the routine of her duties she hears the lazy creak of the same old machinery that was there when she came home a blushing bride. Standing in the street which skirts the bottom of the village and where the big tawdry school-house makes its neighbors ashamed of their plainness, you may look "uptown" at an angle of forty-five degrees and see as many oil "rigs" as you do houses, until all the time-stained and dingy woodwork struggles out of sight among cresting hemlocks and over the brow of the mountain.

There is a treachery in men which riches aggravate. With one or two cheering exceptions, the people who have made the money in Rouseville have gone far away to spend it. Who can blame them? The days of blue jeans and black bread are over, and their sons and daughters are dancing at exclusive little germans in big cities. It is the men who didn't get rich in oil who stay in Rouseville and struggle for a livelihood, and grumble about hard times just the same as they did before nature threw in their path a vast opportunity which their neighbors accepted. And from their humble homes they look out upon what is indeed a melancholy prospect. The rugged scenery, which alone redeems the dismal environs, is indeed the deepest infliction of the curse; for oil is played out and the rocks forbid farming. The big, broad valley through which Oil Creek flows is marred all over its green bosom with blackened remnants of long abandoned "rigs" in one stage or another of decay. Disjected bits of pumping machinery are here and there. A cow of uncertain breed is munching the grass which grows high around a half-buried wheel. Yonder, everywhere, like scars on Nature's face, are black, seared holes, with the rude frame on which the derrick stood. There is not a sign of life to be seen in the whole valley, except the cattle, running stream, and the smoke from a boiler-house away up on the hill across the valley, where a venturesome fellow named Waite, disregarding the edicts of the Producers' Association, has been drilling a new well, and is starting up now in hopes to make a fortune. The villagers—searching you may find one—say it is a case of watch and Waite, for the bold driller is afraid some harum-scarum member of the Producers' will try and "dynamite" his rig, and guards the place day and night to prevent his new property being blown to atoms. All along that hillside, hidden in gullies, perched on ledges, where you would think they could find no foothold, or towering bold above the forest, are old rigs, which, black and grim, are pumping silently their little product, the water of the creek being used for power.

On the slope, away up the creek, the oldest inhabitant has just pointed out the plain little house, and yet as pretensious a one as the locality boasts.

"Thar," he says, "was th' place whar Coal-Oil Johnny lived, an' that wuz th' biggest darned fool we ever had in th' oil regions, b'gosh!"

So that was where the merry-hearted boy, knowing nothing positively about his pedigree, except who his mother was, found wealth beyond his dreams, and exchanged sound sleep and sweet contentment, with hard fare, for the delusive complacency of uncounted riches. In that grim valley, where with his team and truck he wrought a hard-earned living for himself and his wife, there Fortune came, and as if to compensate him for the sarcasm of his birth, showered on him a rain of gold.

Coal Oil Johnny went by the name of Steel, which was the nearest any one could come to his paternity. In his clod life, digging and delving over on Fence Creek, where he was born, he had never unearthed the treasure of knowledge. He never had a paper to sign. If he had, it would have been done with "his mark," and, as for recognizing himself in print, it was out of the question. But after the Widow McClintock, who had land without measure along Oil Creek, took him to bring up, Johnny Steel was, as a gentleman says who knew him life long, the happiest boy on the creek, singing and whistling about his work, always merry as a bird.

Oil was struck and the widow McClintock's hundreds of acres went up to a marvelous value. Those were the days when a man could lease 100 acres of land on Oil Creek, organize a company and float its shares in New York for a million. The fever was at its height. "Oil! Oil!" and men who all their lives had struggled in those rocky solitudes and waste places against beggary found themselves opulent. Gold poured into the Widow McClintock's tenacious Scotch fingers, and she bought an iron safe, which she kept in her bed-room. There was nearly $300,000 in it one morning when the widow got up to build the fire and get breakfast. She poured on a quart or so of crude petroleum and didn't know it was loaded, and breviter, the widow deceased.

Johnny Steel woke one fine morning and they told him he was a Crœsus. Then the tempters took him in charge, and a Mephisto named Slocum undertook to show him the world and its mysteries. His escapades in all the cities of the Union have gone into history. People can tell you how in Philadelphia he bought a team and coach, had a man to drive him around for an hour, and at the end of it gave him the establishment. They can tell you how in the Quaker City, while on a spree, he bought a hotel, the proprietor of which refused to harbor him. It is the talk along the creek that he left the wife of his bosom in Rouseville, unwept, unhonored and unstrung, while he went on scattering his wild oats and his thousands with equal profusion.

"There's nothin' shows how big a fool Johnny Steel was," says the village blacksmith, or some other dignitary, "so plain as what happened at about the windup of his business. On one of his toots he left at the Duncan House in Oil City—a hotel that's tore down now—a trunk full of clo'es. W'en he'd been the grand rounds, and his money an' companions had left him, he got hard up for a suit o' clo'es. He happened t' think o' that trunk. So he went back, an' twas there yet, an' in a vest pocket he found a certified check for some sez $10,000, some sez $20,000. Anyhow, you kin see how ignorant he was. He took the paper down to the clerk an' asked him what it was. The money, with interest, was in the bank in New York all right, an' he got it an' spent every dollar of it on a big bat."

But charitable people will tell you of another side of Johnny Steel's nature; that he never let a human being go hungry or unhappy if a thousand or so would do them any good. And when all the glamour of dissipation had worn away and false friends had left him, Coal-Oil Johnny came back to Rouseville penniless, divested of his gay raiment, donned his jeans and cowhides, got a team and set to work in the old rut to feed and clothe those who were dependent on him. He lived down the scoffers, grew great callouses on the hands through which fortunes had slipped, learned at night to read and write, and, with the memory of millions, struggled day by day simply to make a man of himself. And he did it. Finally he got a place as baggageman on the railroad, and to-day holds a railroad position in the far West. Five years ago he wrote to the Meadville Tribune a vindication of himself, pleading youth and ignorance as excuse for all his follies.

A man who sat on a tumble-down derrick, whittling a stick, said yesterday: "There's only one thing that I lay up as a gredge agin' Johnny Steel. I used to live over to Shakelyville, the other side o' Utica, where Johnny's mother lived. She's by name Mrs. Emmons, now, an' many's the day's washin' she's done for us. Now I think he couldn't 'a done no more'n set som'n aside for her, whatever else he done." And so Johnny Steel has passed from the quiet precincts of Rouseville, and has become a memory and a marvel. There are those left who speak a good word for him, though he spoke few for himself. An old resident of Titusville, where Johnny worked for the railroad, said he used to play billiards with Coal-Oil Johnny, who double discounted him. One day he ventured to remark: "Johnny, I wish I played the game you do."

Johnny's only answer was, "If it had cost you as much to learn it as it has me, you probably would," "and," added the narrator, "that's the only word I ever heard him say about his past life, in any way."

Crossing the creek by a swinging foot-bridge, you skirt along the base of the mountain over a shady road to the house where Coal-Oil Johnny lived. All along the route are strewn bits of oil rigs. Many of the derricks left standing in their lonesomeness are of the old pattern, three poles strung together at the top to form a tripod, and the ladder supplied by nailing on cross-boards. These are the derricks men hustled together when they were in a hurry to get at the hidden wealth which lay beneath their errant feet. And contemporary with such derricks as these was the spring-pole—a tree fastened in the ground at an angle of forty-five degrees, its tip overhanging the site of the well. From the end of this pole the drilling tools were suspended and drillers worked all day long, dragging the tip over with a rope, so as to precipitate the auger stem and its accompanying apparatus into the hole. Then the spring of the bent tree—the spring pole, carried it back again.

Everything seemed to be sound asleep about the old McClintock place. There was no sound save of "the brook that babbled by." In the room where the widow McClintock's thousands used to lie hid, waiting for wild Johnny Steel to scatter them, I found a mild and harmless type of an "Esmeralda," who allowed that she was Mr. McCanliss's daughter. In the village, fixing his own house up I saw another member of the McClintock family, a gray-bearded nephew of the original widow. He says his great-grandfather came up the river long, long ago and dickered with the Indians and settled on the creek, where he acquired vast possessions. In those times the surface of the creek water used to be covered with oil, which oozed up, and which the father of the McClintocks used to soak up with a woollen cloth, at a little island just below the town, and sell for $5 a gallon. Sometimes he got as much as a gallon a week and sold it to people who believed then that for certain sure that oil would cure spavin in a horse.

As you go up the railroad to Titusville, leaving the remains of the once thriving city of Rouseville behind you, on every hand are the decaying monuments of the great industry. Here for miles along the track grass grows green over the knolls and hummocks which mark the site where villages stood. Time has swept them away utterly. At intervals a bit of crumbling foundation wall crops out from the verdure to tell that there was once a home. Back up the slope, in far-reaching lines of terrace, are square pit-holes which erst were cellars, the circular foundations of oil tanks. Everything is overgrown, and the names of the busy hamlets that stood there are themselves well nigh forgotten. So passes the glory of this world.

How to Scare Bears.

AN UNARMED COW-BOY FINDS A NEW WAY TO SUBDUE BRUIN.

From the Minneapolis Tribune.

An old miner tells the following experience that befell him one day when out prospecting in the West: "My horse was well loaded with flour, bacon and other stuff and I had my rifle lying across the flour sack in front of me. My horse seemed to be dreaming, as I was, when out of the brush into our path walked a great big bear. My horse gave a snort and wheeled like a flash, throwing me into the brush as he departed down the trail as if all the country were at his heels. I had no revolver and my rifle was traveling down the mountain.

"My knowledge of bears was limited and that particular time I was not anxious for any new acquaintance in that line, but not so the bear. He seemed to regard me with a friendly eye, for he boldly advanced, while I made for a tree with all the speed that my legs were capable of. The bear wanted to keep me company, for he got to the foot of the tree by the time that I had gained a limb about six feet from the ground. The tree was just about small enough for the fellow to climb and he tried his claws on the bark as high as he could reach. I was in a bad fix and no way to help myself.

"I couldn't use a knife, for I had none, but good luck and a happy thought helped me. I had a canteen of kerosene oil suspended around my neck, which I thought would make his eyes smart and drive him away. The oil had no effect on the eyes if it managed to get in them, for the miserable brute continued to look up at me and seemed to grin. Then another idea got into my head. I had a fresh box of matches and if I could set fire to the oil that I poured over the bear's head the battle was won. I made several attempts to drop burning matches on the oily hair of the bear, but the lucifers either went out or missed the mark.

"I had no paper, but I managed to tear a piece of lining out of my vest, and, getting a limb almost three feet long, fastened the rag to it, set fire to rag, and with more satisfaction than I ever did anything since, lowered the burning rag at the end of the stick until within about three feet of the bear's oil-soaked head and let it drop. In about one second I was enjoying all the fun to myself and the other fellow was in trouble.

"The oil instantly took fire and the blaze from the burning hair was something good for one in my place to gaze at. The animal was surprised beyond the limit of any bear's imagination. One howl of pain, then up went the paws to rub the burning head to get burned for their trouble, followed by another howl; then down went the nose into the dirt, but no relief, when with a terrible howl the bear made a rush through the brush up the mountain out of sight."

What It Costs to Stop a Train.

It is not generally known that loss of power is involved in the starting and stopping of an ordinary train of cars. There is required about twice as much power to stop a train as to start one, the loss of power depending upon the momentum. A train going at the rate of sixty miles an hour can, by means of the Westinghouse air brake, be stopped within 120 yards from the first application of the brake. Now enough power is lost to carry this same train fifteen miles over a plane surface. First, there is the momentum acquired by the train dying at this remarkable rate of speed, then the loss steam in applying the brakes, and lastly, but not least, the extra amount of coal to compensate for all these losses. By computation it has been ascertained that every complete stop involves a cost of $1.17.—Kansas City Star.

COLONEL PIERCE'S NOVEL SCHEME FOR TRAVELING UNDER THE OCEAN 1,000 MILES AN HOUR.

Colonel John H. Pierce, who has invented a system for rapid transit for land and sea, "by a continuous pneumatic current with artificial terminations," described his invention at the Church of the Savior, at One Hundred and Ninth street and Madison avenue New York. Colonel Pierce hopes to lay a double-barrelled pneumatic tube across the ocean, by which passengers can travel at the rate of 1,000 miles an hour. The cars can be made either 1,000 feet long or 10 feet long, and will have wheels on all sides. They will be a little less than four feet in diameter, and the passengers while occupying them will recline on luxurious cushions. Air will be let into the cars for purposes of ventilation by means of stopcocks, and for lighting electricity will probably be used. In order to prevent an undue rush of air at the terminus a large number of arterial exits will be used, which will enable the expresses to slow up properly.

Colonel Pierce will allow our Government to furnish the money; if not, European Government will have the opportunity. Hong Kong, under the new system, will be reached in twelve hours, and Central Africa in six hours. Single tickets, good for either of the points mentioned, ought not to cost more than $20 apiece. Before laying the Atlantic tube Colonel Pierce proposes to experiment with several shorter ones in this vicinity. The first, he thinks, will run between Flatbush and the lower portion of New York city. People might laugh at him, Colonel Pierce said, but the inventors of all great improvements had been laughed at until their enterprises proved successful.

Proverbs About Wind.

Cats with their tails up and hair apparently electrified indicate approaching wind.

If swine are restless and grunt loudly, there will be much wind.

Hunters say that the direction in which the loon flies in the morning will be the direction of the wind next day.

Magpies flying three or four together and uttering harsh cries predict windy weather.

Anvil shaped clouds are likely to be followed by a gale of wind.

The vernal equinoctial gales are stronger than the autumnal.

If it blows in the day it generally hushes toward evening.

If small white clouds are seen to collect together, their edges appearing rough, expect wind.

A light yellow sky at sunset presages wind.

A very red sky in the east at sunset indicates stormy winds.

If the full moon rises red expect wind.

Heavy, white, rolling clouds in front of a storm denote high winds.

The sharper the blast
The sooner 'tis past.

A gale moderating at sunset will increase before midnight, but if it moderates after midnight the weather will improve.

Wind storms usually subside about sunset, but if they do not the storm will probably continue during the following day.

When the glass is low
Look out for a blow,
Fast rise after a low (barometer),
Precedes a stormy blow.
Always a calm before a storm.
No weather is ill
If the wind is still.
Every wind has its weather.
Wind in the west, weather at best,
Wind in the east, neither good for man or beast.

Care of Milk Cows.

When cows are first turned to grass in the spring, if feed is abundant, they ought to be allowed in the pasture but a few hours each day for several days; in a word, the change of food should be gradual. Carelessness on this really important point has resulted often in serious consequences.

To the oft repeated question, "Shall grain be fed to cattle in summer?" the general answer is, "No, not if the animals have an abundance of good grass." The most natural, and at the same time healthful, food for milk cows in summer is the green grass of a pasture. When shorts and bran are obtainable at cheap rates, and grass begins to fail, these may be used to excellent effect in supplementing the grass. Mingled with the hay and fed to the cows, the milk gives a larger per centage of cream, while the quantity of milk is also increased.

It often happens that when cows are giving an extra quantity of milk they incline to become thin and weak. This condition should be prevented by the judicious use of concentrated food. The strength and condition of the animal must be kept up at all times for best results.

His Mother Might Whip Him.

WHY A BRIDE WAS ANXIOUS ABOUT HER YOUTHFUL HUSBAND.

In an excursion party on which some half dozen couples recently arrived in the city there was one pair in which the woman was about twenty-five and the young man about eighteen. This couple procured a licence and were married. Some time before the train was to leave the bride walked into the waiting room of the depot alone. She was asked; "Well, you are married?" "Yes," she replied, "but I wish I wasn't." "Is it a runaway?" was asked of her. "Not so far as I am concerned," she said, "for I'm old enough, but his mother may raise objection. I ain't thinking about myself, but I wouldn't be surprised if his mother whipped him. I wish I hadn't married him. We'll have to face the music, but I don't know how it will come out. It is too late now, however, and we must take the consequences." "You ought to be ashamed of marrying that chit of a boy. He isn't eighteen yet." remarked a bystander. "Well, I am," she answered, "but it is to late now. He is nineteen and I'll have to make the best of it." Subsequently the boy husband joined her and each wore a look of anxiety as they took their seats in the train.

The Columbian.

G. E. Elwell, J. K. Bittenbender, } Editors.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1888.

To the Democratic Voters of Columbia County.

There exists a wrong impression on the part of some, as to the time for holding the County Convention.

By a resolution adopted at the last County Convention the time for the Meeting of the Convention was changed to the second Tuesday in August, and the time for holding of the Delegate Election to the Saturday preceeding the second Tuesday in August. In due time, the Meeting of the County Convention will be called in accordance with this last resolution of the Convention.

E. M. TEWKSBURY, Secty. ROBT. R. LITTLE, Ch'm.

THE PRESIDENTIAL OUTLOOK.

President Cleveland will be nominated at St. Louis next month, by the National Democratic Convention. There is no room to doubt this, and no one else is named for the place. He will be chosen unanimously. Who will be put on the ticket with him for Vice-President it is yet uncertain.

The indications are that Blaine will be nominated by the Republican Convention which will meet at Chicago. Sherman and Gresham are the next most probable candidates.

JUDGE ELWELL RESIGNS.

Judge Elwell desires us to inform the people of this Judicial District that his resignation as President Judge is in the hands of the Governor. To enable him to close up unfinished business already submitted to him, he has fixed the 31st day of July next as the time when the resignation will take effect. The vacancy will no doubt be filled by the Governor before the adjourned Court which will be held on the 2d day of August. In the meantime the people can consider the matter of succession and provide for it in the mode prescribed by the Constitution and laws.

The health of the Judge may now be considered fairly good. Except the difficulty of hearing distinctly the testimony of witnesses, who speak in a low tone of voice, he could transact all the business of his office as well as at any time heretofore. He will attend to all matters at chambers as usual until the first day of August.

THE STATE CONVENTION.

The Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday at 10 a. m. The meeting was called to order by chairman Kisner, and after the calling of the roll of delegates W. U. Hensel of Lancaster was elected temporary chairman, and made a ringing speech. Ex-senator William A. Wallace of Clearfield was elected permanent chairman, and discussed the issues of the day at length in a vigorous address. Both struck the campaign note and they were cheered to the echo. A platform was adopted. R. M. Speer and A. F. Keating were nominated electors-at-large, W. L. Scott, L. C. Cassidy, C. E. Boyle and W. Mutchler for delegates-at-large, and Judge J. B. McCollum for Supreme Judge. The naming of a candidate as successor to Auditor General A. Wilson Norris was left to the State Committee.

Geo. L. McHenry was a member of the committee on organization, and Louis Lowenberg was one of the vice-presidents. At a meeting of the congressional district conference on Tuesday afternoon, Russel Karns of Sullivan was named as a candidate for elector, C. G. Murphy of Columbia, and Wesley Auten of Northumberland as district delegates to the National Convention. S. Krebs of Danville, and J. H. McDevitt of Sunbury as alternates.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, May 21st, 1888.

On Saturday Speaker Carlisle closed the general debate on the Mills tariff with a ringing speech for revenue reform. Referring to the opposition of some of the New England members to the measure he said: "Gentlemen from New England predicated in 1846 that the duties fixed by the law of that date would ruin their textile industries. In 1857 all of the New England members voted for a still further reduction of 20 per cent from what they had called the ruinously low tariff of 1846. In the free trade period, as the republicans called the decade from 1850 to 1860, the wool manufactured product increased 46 per cent and wages 37 per cent. The increased product in New Eegland was 62 per cent. In hosiery the product increased 421 per cent. In cotton the product in New England increased 71 per cent. In boots and shoes, upon which duty had been reduced 16 per cent, the increase in New England was 83 per cent; the product in 1860, in New England was more than the entire product of the union in 1850. This is what the republicans from New England saw under a low tariff. Within eleven years after the passage of this bill the members from New England will vote for a still further reduction, or, if they did not, the people would send some body here who would."

And now that the general debate on the tariff bill is over, few people are under the necessity of asking which has the best of the contest thus far. The democrats have won an intellectual and political battle, and the republicans know it. They hesitate to accept a challenge to a direct vote on the Mills bill without amendment, and they have taken Mr. Randall's bill as an expression of republican opinion, only because they are utterly unable to formulate a bill of their own, upon which to place their faith in the coming campaign before the plain people of the country.

The Mills bill may not pass, although the outlook is very favorable for it now. But the democrats who favor that measure have the satisfaction of knowing that they have furnished the issue upon which the Presidential election will be contested. Mr. Mills is very confident that his bill will pass the House, so confident that he proposed to the republican leaders of the House that they should introduce the substitute which they propose offering for the bill and take a vote on it, and immediately thereafter on his bill, shutting off all amendments as well as the debate by sections.

For the past four days the republicans of the House have been caucusing and conferring, but up to this writing they have agreed to nothing except to oppose the Mills bill. The measure will now be laid aside for ten days, a truce of that length having been agreed upon by the leaders of both sides, and in the meantime the House will proceed with other business. At the end of that time it is probable that the consideration of the bill by sections will begin.

Senator Voorhees was given a public reception last Thursday night by the Indianna democratic association of this city. The Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland associations and the District of Columbia democratic club attended in a body. There were music and fireworks, and nothing lacking in the way of unanimity of endorsement and support. The Senator delivered a rousing speech in which he defended his war record. He said:

"I stood by the principles of my Government. I stood for its honor and I stood for its liberty. I stood for the union of the states, and I stood likewise for the right to discuss every measure of administration for war as well as peace. I voted for every supply and for every dollar that went to feed, and clothe the soldier in the field. That is my record. I recall here what the Indianna soldiers will not forget, that when the money of this Government depreciated until the soldier was not being paid more than $7 or $8 a month although $15 was promised him I made a movement in Congress to increase his nominal pay so that the actual value of what he received should be equivalent to what had been promised."

The House Pension Committee has reported in favor of removing the limitation from the arrearage of pensions act. It is estimated that if this bill becomes a law it would require $250,000,000.

Indian Commissioner Atkins, who is going to resign for the purpose of entering the canvas for Senate from Tennessee, has been requested by Secretary Villas to defer his resignation until after the letting of the Indian contracts. It is expected that the contracts will all be awarded by the fifth of June.

The democratic delegates from this district to the St. Louis convention favor the nomination of First Assistant Postmaster-General Stevenson, of Illinois, for vice-president.

An Extensive Manufacturer Changes His Idea of the Republican Party.

PITTSBURG, May 22.—John Dunlap, one of the most influential and wealthy citizen of Pittsburg, who has been engaged in the tin industry for the past fifty years, and who has one of the most extensive establishments of the kind in the country, has prepared an open letter, in which he unqualifiedly indorses the Mills bill now pending and earnestly urges Congress to pass the same, saying it will prove a blessing to the country. Mr. Dunlap has been a Republican in politics, although he did not wear the party collar. He is the father-in law of Nelson P. Reed, owner of the stalwart Republican Commercial-Gazette.

In his letter Mr. Dunlap states that he has given the question of tariff a careful study, not only as it affects the tin business, but the material interests of the country, and the result of his inquiry has converted him to the conviction that the tariff is a positive injury to the American people, and referring to President Cleveland's administration he says:

"I did not vote for him, but I now wish to say that I made a mistake in not doing so, as he has given the best administration we have ever had. He deserves the thanks of the whole country. If he is again a candidate I will do all in my power to elect him."

Death of Auditor General Norris.

Colonel A. Wilson Norris, Auditor General of the State, died at seven o'clock Monday morning at his residence, No. 2230 Spruce Street, Philadelphia. He died of nervous prostration, brought on by overwork. General Norris was born in Lewistown, Pa., in 1842, and was educated at Georgetown, District of Columbia. He entered the army as lieutenant of the One Hudered and Seventh Pennsylvania volunteers in November, 1861. He was captured at Gettysburg in 1863, and was twenty months a prisoner of war. He was honorably discharged as captain in July, 1865, and studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1867. In 1872 he was appointed private secretary of Governor Hartranft. In 1873 he was inspector of the G. A. R. for the United States, and the same year was elected commander of the department of Pennsylvania in the same organization. He served six years as secretary of the republican state committee. In 1876 he was appointed offical reporter of the supreme court, and served until January, 1881, when he was elected senator from the Sixth Philadelphia senatorial district. He was afterward chosen judge advocate-general of Pennsylvania on the staff of Governor Hoyt. Later he was appointed by President Arthur pension agent at Philadelphia, from which position he retired at the appointment of General Davis, of Doylestown, as his successor. In November, 1886, he was elected auditor-general, and took charge of his office on the first Monday in May, 1887. The Constitution provides that a vacancy in the Auditor General's office shall be filled by the Governor. The appointee will hold the office until May, 1889 that being the Constitutional beginning of a new term.

His death having occured more than three months previous to the election, candidates will be named to be voted for at the coming election. It is probable the State Committee will reconvene the late republican Convention and nominate a candidate.

Slavery Abolished in Brazil.

The Brazilian Senate has passed the bill abolishing slavery, which was passed by the Chamber of Deputies last week. The effect of this bill will be to liberate about 600,000 slaves, valued at $200,000,000. This is the last step in the gradual emancipation begun in 1873 at which time there were registered 1,540,696 slaves. Legalized slavery in the Western hemisphere exists now only in Cuba and Porto Rico.

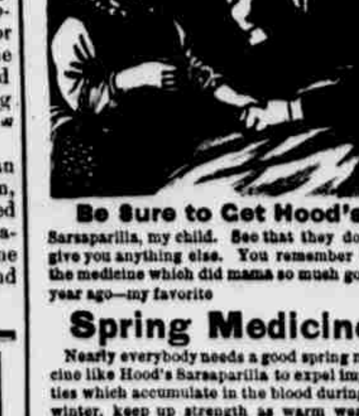

Strung Up For a Lynching.

AN INFURIATED PENNSYLVANIA MOB NEARLY HANG AN ITALIAN.

WILKES-BARRE, May 19.—The suburb of Pittson known as Browntown came near witnessing a lynching yesterday. Three young girls had started into the woods to find several stray cows, when they were attacked by three Italians employed on the new branch of the Lehigh Valley Railroad from Pittson to Laurel Run. The girls resisted desperately upon being seized and screamed loud and long In their struggles the girls were much bruised and hurt and their clothing torn.

Their screams attracted the attention of a miner named Peter Mulderig, who was on his way to work. He ran to their rescue, and the Italians fled. Mulderig took the girls home to Browntown, and when their story was known a crowd of men and boys started out after the Italians, bent on a desperate revenge. They found the foreigners in company with a number of their kind at one of the shanties they live in, and at once attacked them.

A desperate fight followed. Knives clubs, and rocks were vigorously used. Many wounds were inflicted and blood flowed freely. The Italians finally fled in all directions, but one of those who had assaulted the girls named Alberti Rossi was caught. A rope was put round his neck and thrown over the limb of a tree, and in the midst of an excited and bloodthirsty crowd he was swung off his feet, begging and screaming for mercy. The better sense of some of the men returned, however, when they saw him in the air, and they interfered and had him lowered down. He was unconscious, but not seriously hurt.

Appeals will be heard at the Commissioners office in Bloomsburg on the 9th day of June A. D. 1888, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., where you can attend if you think proper.

C. L. SANDS, Mercantile Appraiser.

May 25, 1888,

TREASURER'S SALE.

OF UNSEATED LANDS.

IN COLUMBIA COUNTY, PENNA.

By virtue of sundry acts of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, relating to the sale of seated and unseated lands in the county of Columbia, etc., for taxes due and unpaid, I will offer to public sale in the Court House, in the town of Bloomsburg, on at 10 o'clock, a. m. The following described pieces of land, or such part thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount of taxes due and unpaid against the same, and continue the same, from day to day as the same may be found necessary.

TERMS OF SALE.

The amount of taxes and costs must be paid when the land is struck off or the sale may be void and the property put up and resold.

Personal.

Miss Hilbourne of Philadelphia is the guest of Miss Lottie Kuhn.

Frank C. Foresman, of Williamsport, was in town the latter part of last week.

J. G. Freeze Esq, N. U. Funk Esq, Geo' McHenry and Louis Lowenberg went to Harrisburg on Tuesday as delegates to the State Convention. F. P. Billmeyer Esq., Judge Murphy, R. Buckingham Esq., and Geo. E. Elwell Esq., attended as spectators.

Jacoby will have fish Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

J. D. Shaffer has laid the foundation for a building on Iron street near Third.

Don't buy your boots and shoes without seeing F. D. Dentler's immense stock.

Warren Eyer was in town during the past week. He came up from Maryland to oversee U. S. Lutz's sale.

New names come rolling in rapidly. Seventy-five additional papers were printed last week.

A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Snyder Saturday of last week. They are now located at Scranton.

W. C. Dougherty appeared on the streets Monday with his express wagon repaired and re-painted. It makes a nice appearance.

A petition is in circulation, in which the town council are asked to open Third street from East street to the extension of Third street in Snyder's addition.

Vol. 1 Kent's Commentaries, and 102 Penna. State Reports are missing from the law library of Judge Elwell. Anyone having either of them in his possession will please notify Geo. E. Elwell.

For walking and riding "Hench and Dromgold" wheel cultivators with double corn and phosphate planter attachments go to White, Conner & Sloan, Orangeville, Pa. apr27 6w

The old shoemaker shop which stood on upper Main street near Iron, has been removed to make room for a frame store building to be built by E. B. Brower.

The time of the Democratic County Convention was changed last year. The delegate election will be held on Saturday, August 11, and the convention on August 14th.

If your sight is poor or eyes imperfect, consult Dr. Brown, who fits glasses and operates on the eye. He makes this a specialty. Office 3rd street, near M. E. Church, Bloomsburg, Pa.

Receipt books for collectors and supervisors always on sale at the COLUMBIAN office. They are bound in fine style and sold at the same price that others are selling a much inferior article.

A good physician will find an excellent opportunity to locate at Unityville. The former physician through some family trouble was obliged to leave the place, leaving a rich farming community without a physician.

Elmer E. Person, a graduate of the COLUMBIAN office, and an excellent workman, was married Thursday of last week to an estimable lady of Williamsport. We wish him abundant success in his new journey of life.

Twenty-five cents a day purchases a $3,000 policy in The Travelers, of Hartford, which is payable in event of death by accident, with $15 weekly indemnity for wholly disabling injury. J. H. Maize, agent, second floor COLUMBIAN building Bloomsburg. tf.

The prevalence of scrofulous taint in the blood is much more universal than many are aware. Indeed, but few persons are free from it. Fortunately, however, we have in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the most potent remedy ever discovered for this terrible affliction.

Every seat was filled at St. Paul's P. E. church last Sunday evening on the occasion of the visitation of Right Rev. Dr. Rulison, assistant bishop of the diocese. After a very able sermon a class of ten was presented by the rector Rev. W. C. Leverett, for confirmation. The Bishop officiated at Danville in the morning, and at Catawissa in the afternoon.

List of letters remaining in the Post Office at Bloomsburg for week ending May 22, 1888.

Mr. Elijah Albertson, Mr. J. C. Clapsaddle(2), H. H. Conghlin, Mr. James W. Paris, Mr. Ginseppe Salera, Mr. Joseph Salera, C. L. Tyler.

Persons calling for these letters will please say "advertised."

The law requires postmasters to notify newspaper publishers whenever a paper is refused or uncalled for by the person to whom it is addressed. A failure to do this is a neglect of duty, and we believe that the postmaster thus negligent can be made to pay for the paper from the time that it is refused. We have just received a notice from a certain postmaster in this county, informing us that a certain paper has not been taken out of the office for nearly two years, though this is our first notice. The next case of this kind will be reported to the Post Office Department.

Caroline, wife of Levi Warner, died at Xenia, Ohio, May 9, aged 27 years. Deceased was a daughter of Wm. M. Hartman of Buckhorn. Was married to Mr. Warner of Schuylkill Haven, about two years ago, and has resided in Xenia since. She leaves a husband and infant son one week old. She was a constant member of the M. E. Church since childhood. Her remains were brought to Bloomsburg on Friday, May 11; funeral services conducted on Sunday by Revs. Tubbs and Lepley, and were attended by a great concourse of people. The friends desire to return thanks to many for acts of kindness in the sad hour of bereavement, and especially to the members of the M. E. Choir of Bloomsburg.

Men's fine shoes in kangaroo or calf hand or machine sewed at Dentler's.

The first convention of the Columbia County W. C. T. U., was held in Bloomsburg, Saturday, May 19. Mrs. E. R. Ikeler with her usual promptness called the convention to order. Delegates, officers and visitors were in attendance from the local unions of Berwick, Espy, Lightstreet, Catawissa and Bloomsburg. Besides the regular officers there are superintendents representing eleven different departments of work, all of whom gave excellent reports of their work, considering the shortness of time in service. The morning session was devoted to business, except the time given to Mrs. Emily McLaughlin of Boston, who lectured the previous evening. Mrs. McLaughlin in her address, familiarly spoke of Louisa M. Alcott and Mr. Emerson's daughter as sisters in this great organization of the W. C. T. U. The afternoon session was occupied by a program consisting of the address of welcome, the response, an essay and reports. The ladies present, especially the mothers, were touched with the presence of three young men from Berwick, representing the Loyal Legion at that place. Their Legion numbers over two hundred, which bespeaks for Berwick future citizens with upright, sober and christian principles. Convention adjourned to meet in Berwick the first week in September.

Ladies' fine hand turned or hand sewed shoes at Dentler's.

Decoration Day Program.

Following is the program for Decoration Day: Ent Post, No. 250, G. A. R., will assemble at their hall in the morning, where conveyances will meet them, and, accompanied by the Bloomsburg band, will proceed to Afton to decorate at 9 o'clock. From Afton a detail will be sent to Hidley's grave yard; also a detail sent to Heller's graveyard from Bloomsburg to decorate at 9 o'clock, and from there to Vanderslice's graveyard to decorate at 10 o'clock. This detail will then proceed to Lightstreet and join the post at 10:30, when dinner will be served by the W. C. T. U. for all soldiers and citizens accompanying them.

The parade will form at Bloomsburg on Market Square at 2 p. m. All organizations, societies and citizens taking part will report to the marshal W. R. Ringrose at that place, where the line will form and proceed under the direction of the marshal. After the ceremony an address suitable for the occasion will be delivered by D. A. Beckley. Music will be furnished by the Bloomsburg Cornet band and Choral Society of Normal School. After the address the line will form, proceed to Market Square and be dismissed.

Flowers sent to the hall in the forenoon will be thankfully received. All business men are requested to close their places of business between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m.

Buy Lester's School Shoes. Every pair warranted.

A Dakota Hog Story.

Mike Matthews, living near Howard, Dakota, tells the following, which is vouched for by all his neighbors: During the blizzard of January 12 last he lost a hog, which at the time weighed over 200 pounds. Nothing had been seen or heard of it until last Friday, when he was working at a hay stack some distance from the house and uncovered the hog, which was still alive, and the mother of a litter of ten pigs, all alive and weighing about a pound apiece. The mother weighed when taken out about thirty pounds, a shrinkage of over 170 pounds. She was confined in the stack about three months without food or water.

Limited space prevents us from giving a full account of the game.

Next Saturday our boys will cross bats with the plymouth club. All lovers of a good game should turn out and by their presence show that they appreciate the efforts made by the manager, Mr. Hunt, to obtain only first-class nines. He has on his list the best of teams in this section of the country, and those wishing to witness good ball should go any Saturday afternoon to Athletic Park and satisfy themselves of the playing qualities of our boys.

A Monster Brook Trout.

W. G. Elliott, manager of the Academy of Music, is the envy of all the fishermen. Friday morning he received from some one on Kettle creek, near the Cross Forks, two trout, one of which was a beauty of the first magnitude. The trout was eighteen inches in length, four and a half inches wide, two inches across the back and weighed three and three-fourth pounds. It was the largest trout ever seen by the present generation of fishermen. Mr. Elliott does not know who caught the trout, but thinks it was sent by the man who lives on his place on Kettle creek. Old fishermen say that the angler must have used a meat hook and clothes line to haul the monster from the stream.—Williamsport Sun and Banner.

Grand Picnic.

A picnic will be held in Hess Grove near Rupert Col. Co. Pa. on Friday June 1st, 1888, under the auspices of Pomona Grange No. 5, composed of Columbia and lower Luzerne counties, to convene at 9 o'clock a. m. Hon. Gerrard C. Brown of York county, Pa., lecturer of Pa. State Grange, will be present and address the meeting at 2 o'clock p. m. Other eminent speakers and agriculturalists are expected to be present. Council Proceedings.

May 17, 1888.

Pursuant to adjournment council met in council chamber at 8 o'clock p. m. All present. Elijah Shutt appears and presents a remonstrance against the passage of an ordinance prohibiting cows from running at large, signed by 633 voting and nonvoting citizens. On motion the petition received, ordered filed and laid over until next meeting.

L. S. Wintersteen appears and presents application of E. B. Brower for a building permit for the erection of a two story frame store house on north side of Second street near Iron; on motion a permit granted in accordance with application.

W. H. Gilmore of the Friendship Fire Co. appears and explains why the Rescue Hose and Ladder Co. could not connect their hose with that of the Friendship at the late fire, i. e. for want of a proper coupling; upon motion it was ordered that W. C. Sloan procure a proper coupling.

The chairman of committee on the street to be widened at Port Noble being absent, the town engineer states that he has accompanied a portion of said committee to the said street and there met O. A. Jacoby, who stated to them, that a portion of the ground supposed to belong to Mr. McKelvy belongs to him, Mr. Jacoby. On motion it was ordered that the town surveyor make a survey of the land of Mr. Jacoby in order to ascertain his property lines.

The petition for altering the alignment of the east end of First street was taken up. On motion, seconded, it was ordered that the necessary preliminary steps be taken to make the desired change and that all parties affected by said change on the grading of that portion of the street be notified to appear in council chamber on Wednesday evening, 30th inst, at 8 p. m. to be heard in relation thereto.

The bridge over the run at Fifth and West streets was reported in a bad condition; moved and seconded that an arched culvert be built in place of the old structure and that building of same be contracted, and for that purpose the secretary give notice that sealed proposals will be received up to Wednesday evening, 30th inst at 8 o'clock.

On motion it was ordered that the branches of terra cotta pipe serving as drains, carrying surface water from the west side of Catharine street to the main running across Fifth street on east side of Catharine street, be abandoned and laid so as to carry the water across Fifth street on the west side in like manner as that on the east side.

On motion it was ordered that the Commissioner of Highways notify the Bloomsburg & Sullivan Railroad Co. to build a fence between the public road and their road from the race bridge on the road leading to Mt. Pleasant, to the point where said road crosses railroad; also that said company put in larger culverts under their road in line with the gutter on either side of Third street and repair the side walks over their road at same place. And also repair the grading of the highway on each side of their railroad on Second street, all of which shall be completed within ten days from the service of this resolution.

Evan Jones, Levi Cox and M. K. Appleman, on motion, duly seconded, appointed assistant policemen. On motion council adjourned to meet Wednesday evening May 30th at 8 o'clock.

The finest line of Wall Paper ever displayed at G. A. Clark's, call and examine. Workmen sent to any part of the city on short notice.

B. F. Gardner vs. Bloomsburg Steam & Electric Light Co.

On Monday morning the case of Dr. B. F. Gardner of this town against the Bloomsburg Steam & Electric Light Co. began before the jury selected last week, Judge Archbald presiding. The case was opened for the plaintiff by L. E. Waller Esq., the other counsel for plaintiff being C. W. Miller, and J. Scarlet Esqs. The defense was represented by H. M. Hinckley Esq. of Danville, Ikeler & Herring, L. S. Wintersteen and J. M. Clark Esqs. After some preliminary skirmishing among the lawyers, Samuel Neyhard was called as the first witness, and by him was proved a permit by the town council to the Steam Co. to lay pipes in the streets of Bloomsburg. The official map of the town, and the registration of the plaintiff as a physician were offered in evidence, and then Dr. Gardner was put upon the witness stand. He is almost entirely disabled, and was brought into court on an invalid chair. He testified that on the night of Sept 30, 1886 he was called to see a patient, and drove down Iron street. At the corner of Fourth street he checked up his horse to a very slow trot, drove on a little further and drove into a ditch. It was a very dark night. He was pitched out of his wagon. The horse was fast in the ditch, and they got it out after awhile. Then he walked down and saw the patient, come back up Iron and then up home. Noticed a numbness in his hands first. Went to Mercer's and tried to write a prescription for his horse's bruises, and couldn't control his hand. Had a bad night, and in the morning his left arm was paralized. Has not been able to dress himself since. Called in Dr. McReynolds, and went to Philadelphia to consult Dr. Ellis a specialist, and has been under his treatment ever since. Expenses have been from $600 to $800. Cannot describe the pain that he has suffered. Prior to the accident he was in excellent health. His practice amounted to $3,500 to $4,000 a year. Is unable to perform a surgical operation now. Saw no barriers at the ditch, saw nothing to indicate that there was a ditch there.

CROSS-EXAMINED BY MR. HINCKLEY.

The patient I started to see lived at Seventh and Catharine. My office was over Schuyler's store, and I went down Iron street, had been to see same patient two or three times before; think I went to see same patient night before. Went down East street to Seventh then. May have been down Iron that morning, can't say; last time I passed Iron street there was a place where the ditch had been filled up on the east side, so I went down the west side of the street. I didn't know whether steam or water pipes had been put down. After barriers were removed I went down. The last time I saw the street it was safe for any man to drive it. I did not take another street because I had no reason to believe that Iron street was more dangerous than any other street. Don't remember about lights the night before. Could have gone as near a route by other streets that would have avoided Iron street. Did not say to anybody that I saw the lantern but did not know which side of the street it referred to. Did not say that I had been down the street that day or the day before, and saw that the east side was impassable, and that was the reason I took the west side." [Here followed a long cross-examination laying grounds for contradiction.] Was driving at the rate of about 5 miles an hour. Didn't drive up on the pavement; it was so dark I couldn't see the horse. First I remember after accident was seeing a lamp or lantern that some lady brought out. I knew afterwards there was a barrel with a lantern, saw it as we were trying to get horse out. Barrel was at end of old ditch on east side. A boy named Bidleman came along first. Memory affected in some ways, not in others. Can remember anything that is impressed on my mind. Practice has been conducted by my partner since accident. Value of practice was based on amount of book charges. Size of horse was a little below average; spirited and gentle, nothing vicious about her; had a buck-board, narrow gauge.

The foregoing is a brief outline of the plaintiff's testimony.

Dr. H. C. Wood of Philadelphia was affirmed. He is a professor of nervous diseases in the hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, author of a work on nervous diseases, and has been called as an expert in this state and New York. Has examined Dr. Gardner, found loss of power from the head down, tendency to contraction of muscles, what is known as knee-jerk. Disease is chronic inflammation of the spinal cord. It is the result of the accident, with very little chance of amelioration, and will gradually increase until death ensues, or insanity may result.

On cross-examination the witness said that the condition of the plaintiff might have arisen from other causes.

Dr. M. H. Bockroth of Philadelphia has charge of the nervous department of Jefferson College. He has examined Dr. Gardner, and thinks he will become a chronic imbecile. It is very doubtful if he can ever practice his profession. Condition is due to an injury to the spine.

TUESDAY MORNING.

John M. Clark Esq. sworn. Am secretary of the Bloomsburg Steam & Electric Light Co. since Oct. 1885, the time of its organization. [Minutes of the company shown witness, minutes of Oct. 17th and 21st 1885 read by witness, showing formation of company and election of directors and other officers, also steps taken to make application for charter etc. etc.] The same parties named in these minutes are the officers of the Bloom. Steam & Electric Light Co. and were in control of the company on the 30th of Sept. 1886, Mr. A. Z. Schoch was President at that time.

Cross-examination. The incorporated company first took charge of the works somewhere between the 6th and 8th of Feb. 1886. The contractors of the American District Steam Co. had control from Oct. 1885 to this time. The Steam Co. of Bloom had no control whatever during the interval from Oct. '85 to Feb. '86. The works were constructed under a written contract by the American District Steam Co. of Lockport N. Y., they did the work of laying the pipes and erecting the works. Nothing was done by the Steam & Electric Light Co. after the completion of the contract with the American District Steam Co. under the permit of the council. The corporation did not make the contract.

Re-direct. A portion of the contract price was paid by the individuals who afterwards constituted the corporation, the rest was paid by the corporation. The permit in evidence was the only one ever obtained so far as my knowledge extends. The extension on Iron street was completed somewhere about the first of Oct., 1886 The whole town is not piped and we make extensions from time to time, as there is a demand for steam.

Cross-examined. The east side of Iron street was impassable for a week or ten days, before the 30th of Sept. 1886 the main ditch had been filled up, there were no other ditches on the morning of the 30th, on that day a cross ditch was dug for the Harman service pipe. The width of the passage on the west side of the street as near as I can judge was ten or eleven feet.

Geo. W. West sworn. Resides in Danville, is a surveyor, made a draft of Iron street between 4th and 5th streets, made it from measurements taken on the ground. It shows the position of the streets etc. [Draft offered in evidence.]

Wm. Armstrong sworn. Live in Williamsport, lived in Bloom on the night of 30th Sept., '86. Saw Dr. Gardner between 8 and 9 o'clock on that evening. He was very nervous, pale and complained of numbness, he came into the store for a prescription, I mean Mercer's drug store where I clerked. The prescription was never filled as it could not be read.

Cross-examined. Had seen the Dr. excited before this time.

White Werts sworn. Lives in Bloomsburg. 30 years old, a laborer. The service ditch from the main ditch was dug to Harman's on Sept, 30th, 1886 at about five o'clock p. m. I helped dig it. We worked until about 6 o'clock. The end toward the middle of the street was about two feet and a half the other end about eighteen inches, it was about eighteen inches wide. The dirt was thrown up on the north side between 2 and 3 feet. We began to throw the dirt up from about the centre of the ditch. The mound of dirt extended about eight feet from the variator toward Harman's. Did not dig the ditch clear to Harman's, might have been a little over a foot from the curb of the gutter where we quit. Fisher worked with me digging. When we quit Fisher moved a barrel over on the heap of dirt from the variator. He put it on the middle of the heap and put a lamp on it. He lit the lantern and put it on the barrel. It took him about 20 minutes to get the lantern.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

White Werts recalled. Mr. Schoch ordered him to dig ditch. Got instructions from Mr. Schoch to throw dirt on east side at Iron street into main ditch and dig cross ditch. Worked under Fisher.

Robert Roan sworn. Lives in Bloom. Cabinet maker. Saw ditch on 30th September, 1886 about 6 o'clock. No barriers. Trees thick along Iron street. Much shade. Light of lantern very dim. Could not see the ditch by light of lantern.

On cross-examination said: Saw ditch about half an hour before accident occurred. Could see dim light from 4th street. Night dark. After barriers were taken out the street was in condition on west side to drive through.

Geo. Bidleman sworn. Live in Bloomsburg. Works at Lockard's Car Shops. Lives on Iron street. Saw Dr. Gardner after he came out of ditch. Horse was about in centre of ditch. Doctor was standing around while the horse was being taken out. Saw lantern at half past seven or eight. Was a black smoky lamp. Light might have been seen from 4th street.

Thomas Jones sworn. Saw accident. The horse gave a spring and went over the bank. Helped get the horse out.

Cross-examined. Time of accident about eight o'clock. Saw horse and buggy coming by light from streetlamp at 4th St. Could not see it by light from lantern on ditch. Mrs. Harman brought a lamp and another lantern was used.

Willie Lockard sworn. Fifteen years old, lives on 5th street. Knows Dr. Gardner. Saw Dr. Gardner on evening of accident. Driving at a trot down Iron street. saw him next at ditch, backing horse from buggy. Saw lantern; rather smoky; gave some light. Setting on barrel, barrel prevented it from casting light into the ditch. Saw ditch earlier in the evening. Looked into it. Could see it dimly by light from street lamp at 4th street.

Geo. Bidleman recalled. Noticed dirt on Dr. Gardner's clothes. Side and shoulder were dirty. Fresh dirt.

Dr. Arment sworn. Dr. Gardner much prostrated by yesterday's examination. Thinks he would not be able to be present at court to-day. Has been with Dr. Gardner as a partner since March 1, 1887. The doctor suffers terrible pain. Pains grow more frequent; last but a few moments. He grows more nervous; sleeps but little.

Dr. McReynolds sworn. Lives in Bloomsburg Practicing physician. Was called in to cep Dr. Gardner after accident. he was disabled in left side. Was suffering considerable pain.

Dr. O. H. Allis sworn. Lives in Philadelphia. Physician and surgeon. Witness offered as expert. Dr. Gardner came to Philadelphia to see him October 4th 1886. Said he had been thrown from a carriage, striking on his shoulder and hurt it exceedingly. Examined him. Found there was an injury of the spine. Great pain about centre of body, feeling as though there was an iron band around his chest. Numb sensation in limbs, especially in left limb. Pain around chest is always significant of spinal injury. March 1st, 1887, Mr. Mercer brought Dr. Gardner to Philadelphia. Found the disease had much increased. A raw hide jacket was made for him to give support to the body, and an appliance to put upon his left limb so that he could walk with a four-legged cane. He will always require these appliances to assist him in walking. The original cause of the disease was an accident of some kind, a fall of any kind, a fall that would bring about a severe jar to the body. It one be thrown out of a buggy, striking violently upon the back, would produce such symptoms. Present condition one of great suffering. The symptoms could not have arisen from any other cause than that given. If the disease be arrested he can never earn his own living. He is a skilful physician, as a general surgeon. Think he would perform the operations of surgery as skilfully as any physician in Philadelphia.

Plaintiff rests.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

A motion for non-suit was made by defendant's counsel. The morning was taken up by arguments on both sides. Court refused to grant non-suit.

WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, May 21, 1888.

The store is in Summer trim. Hot weather things have been put to the front. Everything. The light and airy Dress Stuffs; the bright Summer Silks; the Parasols; the filmy Curtains; the hundred sorts of sporting and outing Shoes; the gay and breeze-wooing Bonnets and Hats, and such a gathering of Sporting things, and Rattan and Reed things, and Housekeeping things (including every modern appliance for making Ice helpful in the family), as you have never seen under one roof before.

We have put these things about so you can see them and understand them easily. It is worth a journey to see what the wit of the world has contrived to make the hot days—and nights—comfortable. An object lesson in the things that most concern every person—housekeepers especially—from June to September.

You are welcome.

Our Sateen stock is perennial. When we opened the season with the announcement of 1059 styles shown simultaneously, it would seem that no equal statement about Sateens had ever been made, but to that first showing we have been adding constantly. Now a little army of new styles just out of the Custom House. Following on the heels of hundreds of others new this season, and yet scarcely two alike. And they are in the colors most to your mind:

sulphur and black	gobelin and white
green and cream	navy and white
garnet and cream	black and white and a dozen other just as welcome combinations.

Patterns that have never been here before:
sprigs and sprays
dotted plaids
scraggly leaves
random seashells
cluster color dots

Buds and blossoms and ragged bits of brightness scattered higgledy-piggledy, but peeping with surprise prettiness from every fold.

Black All-wool Henriettas. Genuine German. Plenty of so-called all-wool Henrietta in the stores that is nothing but French Cashmere calendered to give it the Henrietta finish. And it isn't Henrietta finish after all. That silky sheen doesn't come from calendering. It's in the wool and the weave. Sticks to the stuff. These Henriettas are plump 45 inches wide and bang-up quality, but the prices take a down dip. Were 85c, $1, and $1.25; now 75c, 85c, and $1.

The price-wings of Albatross are clipped a little—10 cents. Only a little clip you say. Down from 60 cents to 50. But twenty per cent on Albatross is a big clip. And then, too, the color line is full—no cullings nor gleanings.

Scotch Zephyr Checked Ginghams. If you know Ginghams one of the great honest Gingham names will come to your mind and you'll ask, Are they ——? Well, no, they are not, but it's a bright mind that will say they do not bear a great trade mark. Equal? Yes, we think so. They were 40 cents last week; 25 cents now. 30 inches.

Wool-and-Cotton Plaid Suiting. Small checks with overplaids, mostly cotton. In color and style nearly equal to the finest English Wool Suiting. 120 pieces. 34 inches. The price is absurd—12½ cents; just half.

WANAMAKER'S.

Too many Parasols. Not here, but with the makers, And so it came about that a very unusual opportunity ripened. We are but the intermediary, between the makers and you. Arn't these prices a revelation?

	Selling value.	Our price.
100 Children's Parasols	$ .75	$ .38
101 Black and black squares 24-inch Ladies' Coaching	3.00	1.75
100 24-inch Twilled Coaching, wine marine blue, light brown	2.50	1.50
250 22-inch Coaching, plain colors, with double twill of self-colors, wine, black, navy, ecru, two browns	3.00	1.75
125 22-inch Small Plaid Coaching, five combinations including black and white	3.50	2.00
50 Saxony Lace Covers, light and dark ecru	3.00	2.00
100 Saxony Lace Covers, beige and cream	3.75	2.50
75 Large Polka Dots, cardinal and black, blue and black	5.00	3.25
35 22-inch Coaching Stripes, black and black, black and cardinal	5.00	3.25
200 22-inch Coaching Faille Francaise, woven white edge, ten colors	5.00	3.50

This will give you an idea of what we are doing. There is not a Parasol named in this list that has ever been shown before. But the list is only a part. We take many Parasols in our regular stock and cut the price in half.

Taken all-in-all, this will be the most notable sale of Parasols we have ever made.

Send your address and we will send you our Catalogue for the Spring and Summer of 1888. It will make your shopping by mail a very easy matter.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S CROWN.

The crown of Queen Victoria consists of diamonds, pearls, rubies, sapphires and emeralds, set in silver and gold. Its gross weight is 39 oz. 5 dwt. troy. The number of diamonds are 3,352; pearls, 273; rubies, 9; sapphires, 17; emeralds, 11. It is an old saying—Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown. It is better to wear the crown of perfect health and peace of mind through the curative effects of Perrine's Pure Barley Malt Whiskey. For sale by C. B. Robbins, Bloomsburg, Pa.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. Swayne's Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. may-4-1y.

Ask For Ayer's

Sarsaparilla, and be sure you get it, when you want the best blood-purifier.

With its forty years of unexampled success in the cure of Blood Diseases, you can make no mistake in preferring Ayer's to any other. The fore-runner of modern blood medicines, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is still the most popular, being in greater demand than all others combined.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla is selling faster than ever before. I never hesitate to recommend it."—George W. Whitman, Druggist, Albany, Ind.

"I am safe in saying that my sales of Ayer's Sarsaparilla far excel those of any other, and it gives thorough satisfaction."—L. H. Bush, Des Moines, Iowa.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's Pills are the best selling medicines in my store. I can recommend them conscientiously."—C. Bickhaus, Pharmacist, Roseland, Ill.

"We have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla here for over thirty years and always recommend it when asked to name the best blood-purifier."—W. T. McLean, Druggist, Augusta, Ohio.

I have sold your medicines for the last seventeen years, and always keep them in stock, as they are staples. 'There is nothing so good for the youthful blood' as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—R. L. Parker, Fox Lake, Wis.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla gives the best satisfaction of any medicine I have in stock. I recommend it, or, as the Doctors say, 'I prescribe it over the counter.' It never fails to meet the cases for which I recommend it, even where the doctors' prescriptions have been of no avail."—C. F. Calhoun, Monmouth, Kansas.

The routes over which the tickets will be sold is Pennsylvania Railroad to Pittsburg, thence by the Pennsylvania Company's lines to destination.

The well-known and superior advantages of the Pennsylvania Railroad, arising from complete facilities, fine equipment, and its unsurpassed service of through trains, commends this route most strongly to intending visitors to these great gatherings.

Graves and Burials in Algiers.

Arab women patronize the conveyances, and on Fridays they go in crowds to Belcour, where there is a cemetery and a neat little khouba frequented by the fair sex only on that day. A column in the centre of the court supports trelises of grape-vines. Tombstones of marble and slate are numerous in the court as well as out in the cemetery. At the head of each tomb is a slab of marble with one or two round holes in which flower-pots are set, or cups placed there that the birds may drink from them; the natives believe that these birds afterward fly away to heaven with a greeting from the soul reposing beneath.

The keeper of this khouba was old and blind; he passed his time in sweeping the carpets and matting, then resting and singing to himself. He would use his hankerchief to dust the sacred tomb, wash it, and then dry it in the sun, holding it until it was dry. To satisfy my curiosity I sent a child to translate for me and ask if he was happy, or what he could desire. He shook his head: "No, I want nothing; I am never ennuye, and I am quite happy."

One day I witnessed here the burial of a child. The young boy was laid in the grave wrapped in a yard or two of white cotton; a smaller hole was dug at the bottom of the grave, and served as a coffin, being covered with flat slabs of stone to prevent the earth from falling directly on the body. Twenty or thirty men stood around in silence, the earth was hastily replaced, and temporary stones were placed at the head and feet; the cushions and pieces of embroidery in which the body lay on the donkey which bore it to the final resting-place were put back on the animal, and the procession moved silently away. The women and girls always come afterward to weep on the graves and place flowers, and especially branches of myrtle. They often spend the greater part of three days round a new grave, sitting on matting and carpets.—F. A. BRIDGMAN, in Harper's Magazine for May.

He Wanted to be Reasonable.

Some young men of Boston went fishing up in the country a few days ago, and, arrived at the fishing grounds, asked an ancient inhabitant if he could get them some bait. He thought that he could and started off. Three hours afterward he appeared with a ten-quart pail full of angleworms. The boys were alarmed lest there should not be money enough in the party to pay for such a wealth of bait; but they put on a bold front, and one asked: "How much do we owe you?" "Well, I don't rightly know," answered the old man. "The ground is kinder solid an' the worms is far down, an' it's been hard on my back to dig 'em. But I've half a notion to go fishin' myself termorrer, an' if you'll give me half the bait we'll call it square.

Spooks in Wilmington.

Early Thursday morning of last week the fire alarm in the City Hall tower at Wilmington, Del., sounded from box 12. in front of the hall. It struck twelve twice, and then struck all sorts of alarm. The fire department turned out, and after a vain search of half an hour went back to their houses. About fifteen minutes after the alarm was sounded many people on the streets were suddenly startled by a strange light which appeared east of the city on a line with Fifth Street, and apparently on the river. The light was of a deep-red color ann radiating rays flashed several times against the horizon. The color was remarkable, and the unusual spectacle lasted three or four minutes. No one seemed able to account for the phenomenon, and with the mystery of the fire alarm it remai e l unsolved.

Purify Your Blood.

Bodily and mental health depend upon a healthy condition of the blood. The blood particularly in the spring and summer months, becomes clogged with impurities, which poison it and generate disease. A harmless blood purifier is necessary to restore a healthy tone. The best purifier and tonic known is Swift's Specific (S. S. S.). Of its wonderful purifying and tonic powers we give a few testimonials:

Mr. Wm. A. Siebold, with George P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce Street, New York, writes: "I feel it my duty, for the benefit of others who may be afflicted as I was, to write you this letter, which you can use in any way you choose. I suffered great pain from boils, all over my neck; I could not turn my head without acute pain. After trying all the usual remedies, and finding no relief, I used one bottle S. S. S., and very soon I was entirely relieved of my 'Job's Comforters.' Now not a sign of my affliction can be seen."

Mr. M. S. Hamlin, Winston, N. C., writes: "I use it every spring. It always builds me up, giving me appetite and digestion, and enabling me to stand the hot summer days. On using it I soon become strong of body and easy of mind."

Mr. C. E. Mitchell, West 23d St. Ferry, New York, writes: "I weighed 116 pounds when I began taking your medicine, and now 152 pounds. I would not be without S S S. for several times its weight in gold."

A Constant Reminder.

"Why do you wear that nickel on your watch-chain?" asked a city hall attache of a milkman who was after a board of health permit to peddle cow juice. "I wear it as a reminder to get even with one of my customers," was the answer. "Over a year ago I took that nickel, which was then beautifully gold plated, as a $5 gold piece in payment of a bill. As soon as I detected the fraud I took it back to the woman who passed it on me, but she refused to make it good. So I attached it to my watch-chain and kept on supplying her with milk as though nothing had happened. But now every day I make her quart one-fourth water and once a week I credit her with one-fourth the amount of her milk bill in a book which I keep for that purpose. When the sum total standing to her credit is $4 95 she shall have pure milk once more, and not until then. She knows the milk is watered, but whenever she shows an inclination to complain I handle the nickel and say that my milk is as 'pure as gold.' That settles it."—Buffalo Express.

A Word to the Wise.

In the "Official Report on Baking Powders," recently published in the Anna's of Hygiene, (the official organ of the State Board of Health) we note that the "Old Reliable" Rumford Yeast Powder is the only phosphatic powder on the market. It consequently holds a position absolutely its own, and as all physicians know that there are many persons to whom the use of the phosphatic would prove very beneficial, this powder may therefore be highly recommended. Other baking powders were found to contain alum, ammonia and cream of tartar, all of which under certain conditions, are positively injurious. The "Old Reliable Rumford" is the only powder that leaves anything of nutritive value in the bread, and should, therefore, be recommended above all other baking powders for household uses.

Harper's Magazine for June is an example of what a magazine for early summer ought to be. It contains a judicious mixture of the best things in literature, and is thus suited to all the moods of a June day. Fiction is provided for lazy hours by W. D. Howells, Henry James, and William Black, and there is much charming poetry. Neither are solid articles for serious reading lacking, and the artistic features of the number are most delightful. Reinhart, Abbey, Charles Graham, E. P. Sanguinetti, Alfred Parsons, W. H. Hyde, and F. Barnard, all contribute specimens of their best work. The frontispiece is an excellent portrait of the late Mrs. Craik, and belongs to the article on "London as a Literary Centre," which abounds in good likenesses of English novelists.

That Tired Feeling.

Season is here again, and nearly every one feels weak, languid, and exhausted. The blood, laden with impurities which have been accumulating for months, moves sluggishy through the veins, the mind fails to think quickly, and the body is still slower to respond. Hoods Sarsaparilla is just what is needed. It is, in a pecular sense, the ideal spring medicine. It purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, makes the head clear, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling, and imparts new strength and vigor to the whole body.

A Plague of Rats in China.

A late number of the Pekin Gazette contains an announcement that reads like one of Grimm's fairy tales. It is to the effect that it will be necessary to change certain postal routes in Outer Mongolia because of the appearance of swarms of rats. For two years past the pasturage in this region has suffered much, and last year the grass was nearly all eaten up by these vermin. The whole country had been honey-combed by their burrowing. Camels and horses are suffering for food, and the courier service throughout this district cannot safely be continued because the burrows are a source of danger to all mounted travellers.—Times.

A Ruse That Failed.

Salvatore Sparto, an Italian laborer, was arrested for assaulting a fellow workman. In order to make it appear that the fight had been about a draw Salvatore invested his money in black plaster and bandages, and made himself up as a badly wounded warrior. There was some doubt expressed by the Court as to the extent of his injuries, and an examination was made which resulted in Salvatore's being sent to Sing Sing for four years. It was a good scheme, but it failed.

"Yes," said a north Pearl street clerk to-day, "I was broken all up by an ice gorge right here last August. It was an ice-cream gorge my regular girl indulged in, and cost me $1.75. I was in a melting mood, and paid it."—Albany Journal.

THE DENIAL OF PETER.

LESSON IX, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 27.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxvi, 67-75. Golden Text, I Cor. x, 12—Memorize Verses 73-75—Comment by Rev. H. S. Hoffman.

[Condensed from Lesson Helper Quarterly, by permission of H. S. Hoffman, Philadelphia, publisher.]

Notes.—V. 67. Spit in his face, showing the highest contempt and insult, Numbers xii, 14; Job xxx, 10. Buffeted, striking with closed hands or with the fists. V. 68. Luke (xxii, 64) and Mark (xiv, 65) tell us that they blindfolded him before saying these words. V. 69. Without, in the outer court or space, where the servants gathered. Damsel, a portress who kept the door, John V. 71. Porch, the small apartment between the outer door and the large hall in the center of the building. V. 73. After a while, about an hour later, Luke xxii, 59. Speech bewrayeth, his Galilean accent showed it. V. 74. Began he to curse and swear, losing all control of himself he went on to worse sins. V. 75. Thrice, three times. Luke xxii, 61 tells us Jesus looked on him. Wept bitterly, the thought of deep guilt swept over Peter's soul and he went out into the darkness to repent of his sins.

Few events in the Bible are so full of human nature and divine grace, of warning and comfort, as the fall and restoration of Peter. The nearest parallel case in the Bible is the great sin and repentance of David.

After the preliminary trial before the high priest had taken place many of the members of the Jewish sanhedrim assembled in the council hall. They knew Jesus was to be arrested, and hence were ready. Perhaps such members as Nicodemus and Joseph of Aramathea were absent. The sanhedrim had authority to try those charged with capital offenses, but could not execute the sentence of death. In this midnight trial of Jesus every rule of Jewish law seems to have been violated in the haste and eagerness to condemn him. A night trial was not legal. To be bound as a malefactor before he was arraigned, to be beaten before a verdict was rendered, to be struck in open court while the trial was going on, were all in violation of every sense of right and justice. The irregular and illegal trial of him by night was suspended until daybreak so that they could then secure from Pilate the sentence of his death. In the time elapsing till daylight occurred the maltreatment by his lawless enemies and the denial by Peter.

V. 67. After the sanhedrim had pronounced him "guilty of death" he was subjected to a series of indignities. Before the trial in the house of Annas he was struck by one of the officers. Doubtless others in authority offered him insults. The common guard soon followed in jeer and mockery. The abusive insults of the underlings was the natural sequence of the more formal mockery of their superiors. Let it not surprise us if, as followers of Jesus, we too receive insults.

V. 68. After they had blindfolded him they scoffed at his prophetic office as Messiah. Jesus answered not a word, though all the universe was at his command. No act is so contemptible as to ridicule good persons or holy things. And yet when we are mocked silence is best.

V. 69. Peter was now inside the court yard of the palace of Caiaphas. He had gained admittance through John, who was known at the palace. With the servants he was sitting around the fire, for the night was cold. A portress looking upon Peter said that he was with Jesus. This drew upon him the eyes of all about. An obscure servant becomes now the innocent occasion of the downfall of the chief of the apostles.

V. 70. In the most cowardly fashion he resorts to evasion, which always leads to direct falsehood and often perjury.

V. 71. Perhaps wishing to escape the further observation of the servants, he went into the vestibule or porch leading into the street, where another female slave in ridicule accused him of being with Jesus. Perhaps several at the time confirmed her statement. Christians cannot long be hid when among men of the world.

V. 72. Now he boldly denies his Master, and the long cast off habit of swearing comes back to him in the moment of excitement. He told an unblushing, positive lie, when he said that he knew not Christ, and then tried to confirm his falsehood with an oath. Sin grows when it is not checked. The disciple first and loudest to profess his Lord, now vehemently denies him! Times of fanatical defense of the faith are often followed by base denial.

V. 73. The men who stood by must have had a contempt for Peter's perfidy.

V. 74. Irritated beyond endurance, with a positive witness against him, Peter now resorted to calling down curses on himself, that what he said was true, affirming before God what he knew to be false. How the sins of his former life came again to the surface! There is much hidden and remaining sin in the best Christian.

When the cock crew Peter remembered what Jesus had said. And it was now that Jesus turned and looked upon Peter. It was the look of wounded love. History bears to us the tradition that ever after when Peter heard the crowing of a cock he fell on his face and mourned over his base denial of his Lord.

At about 2 o'clock in the morning, when his last denial occurred, Peter hurried out into the dark, and gave way to deep sorrow for his sins. He not only wept, but wept bitterly. We must not only notice Peter's sins, but his sincere tears of repentance. The remorse of Judas made him rush out and hang himself. The repentance of Peter made him turn to God with tears and cries. The remembrance of his great sin ever after humbled his proud and self confident spirit. His repentance was complete.

Notice the causes of Peter's sin. a. He followed Jesus afar off. Had he kept nearer to Jesus he would have been safer. b. He got separated from the other disciples. Had they kept closer together they all would have been stronger. c. He underrated and neglected the warnings of Jesus. He was apprised of coming danger. d. He did not believe the word of the Lord. He had too much confidence in his own strength. e. He, with presumption, rushed where danger was. f. He neglected to exercise that watchfulness and prayer Jesus had enjoined. g. He failed to comprehend the teaching which the Lord had repeatedly given of the necessity of his sufferings and death. He clung to the Jewish notion that Christ would establish an earthly kingdom. h. His piety was controlled more by feeling than principle. In the hour of sore temptation we must be grounded on the grand doctrines of grace, otherwise we will fail. Notice the lessons from Peter's sin. a. The danger of self confidence, see Golden Text. True confidence relies on God, not on self, for strength. b. The highest favors and blessings do not exempt us from the danger of falling into sin. Though greatly favored, Peter sinned. c. It is a bad sign to conceal our discipleship. The next thing is denial of Christ. d. The best of men sin—none are perfect.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years. Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

INVENTION has revolutionized the world during the last half century. Not least among the wonders of inventive progress is a method and system of work that can be performed all over the country without separting the workers from their homes. Pay liberal; any one can do the work; either sex, young or old; no special ability required. Capital not needed; you are started free. Cut this out and return to us and we will send you free, something of great value and importance to you, that will start you in business, which will bring you in more money right away, than anything else in the world. Grand outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine. 1ydec30

I CURE FITS!

When I say CURE I do not mean merely to stop them for a time, and then have them return again. I MEAN A RADICAL CURE. I have made the disease of

FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS,

A life long study. I WARRANT my remedy to CURE the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a FREE BOTTLE of my INFALLIBLE REMEDY. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and it will cure you. Address

PERRINE'S PURE BARLEY MALT WHISKEY.

DISTILLED from selected Barley Malt and guaranteed to be chemically pure and free from injurious oils and acids often contained in alcoholic liquors. It is especially adapted to persons requiring a stimulating tonic, Consumptives being greatly benefitted by its use. Recommended by leading physicians as a Diuretic Nervine, Tonic and Alterative. For Consumptives it is invaluable. PERRINE'S PURE BARLEY MALT WHISKEY insures a return of vigor to the stomach, a good appetite, a rich and abundant blood and increased flesh and muscular tissue. A stimulant mild and gentle in effect. Dyspepsia, Indigestion and all wasting diseases can be entirely conquered by the use of Perrine's Pure Barley Malt Whiskey. It is a tonic and diuretic and a powerful strengthener to the entire system. PERRINE'S PURE BARLEY MALT WHISKEY has proved a medicinal protection to those who pursue their avocations in the open air and whose daily work calls for exceptional powers of endurance. Ask your nearest druggist or grocer for PERRINE'S PURE BARLEY MALT WHISKEY revives the energies of those worn out with excessive bodily or mental effort and acts as a safeguard against exposure in wet and rigorous weather. It will drive all malarious diseases from the system. Hard workers of every vocation and persons whom a sedentary life renders prone to Dyspepsia find in Perrine's Pure Barley Malt Whiskey a powerful invigorant and helper to digestion. PERRINE'S PURE BARLEY MALT WHISKEY without unduly stimulating the kidneys increases their flagging activity, counteracts the effects of fatigue, hastens convalescence and is a wholesome and prompt diuretic. Watch the label! None genuine unless bearing the signature

The analysis as it appears by the Label on every bottle: I have carefully analyzed the PURE BARLEY MALT WHISKEY made by M. & J. S. Perrine and find it entirely free from fusel oil, furfurol, metals and acids and is absolutely pure.—Signed, Camilla Arthur Maier, Graduate of the Universities of Munich, Geneva and Weisbaden
